Delivering for East Belfast

Niall Ó Donnghaile is a politics graduate from the University of Ulster. Having gained his early education through the medium of the Irish language it is no surprise that he is currently employed in the Irish education sector. He is not only a fluent speaker but also an ardent activist on behalf of the Gaelic culture and language. Most recently he was elected chairperson of "Glor an Tine Bheo"(a group founded to promote the Irish language and culture). Niall is also an avid GAA fan and an active member of Seán Martins GAA club.

Despite his youthfulness he has been involved in politics for many years, having joined Ógra Shinn Féin when he was 16 years old. He is involved in many groups and organisations in the local community and is a:

- Member of the Belfast committee of the National Graves Association,
- Board member of the Short Strand Partnership,
- Committee member of the Short Strand Festival Group,
- Vice-Chairperson of the Martin/Treacy Sinn Fein Cumann.

He has campaigned successfully in recent years on many local issues and is particularly involved in supporting the need for more social housing.
